I spoke to [] today and, as you are already aware, it looks like OIT is going to continue to have CAMS for awhile. [] said that after they had heard everybody on this topic, that it did not appear to be advisable to consolidate the PS and TS sections now. It would be "almost wasteful" to do so he said.

He said he had advised COMIREX not to push for anything that was not required to keep the system working. He said that we should be looking to the future RMS, say in 1993, and doing the minimum with CAMS between now and then, although of course it has to keep functioning, and hopefully accept new requirements as []

I alerted him that CAMS, like everything else, would take a Gramm Rudman hit.
